WINNER: COOL PEOPLE

“Never have I ever experienced such an amazing group of people to work with! During my 6 month co-op with Procter and Gamble in Frankfurt, Germany I met some of the hardest working people in my life, but it wasn't just their jobs at which they worked hard! Fitting the ultra-competitive German stereotype, there were so many sporting competitions for which the office formed a team I could hardly keep up! However, my absolute favorite event was the Dragonboating competition.”

WINNER: COOL PERKS

“These Ideopians sure know how to throw a party. For their 2009 Holiday Party, instead of the typical get-together at the boss’ place, everyone, their families, and guests headed up to the Great Wolf Lodge at Kings Island. We enjoyed dinner as a company, spent time getting to know one another, and had two whole days of endless entertainment and water park fun (all courtesy of the company).”

WINNER: COOL PROJECTS

“One of the coolest and most exciting projects I have been fortunate enough to be a part of is the Wolfe Center for the Arts by Norwegian architectural firm Snohetta. This project is monumental for BGSU because this will be Snohetta’s first completed project in America. Snohetta is a very successful architecture firm known most famously for designing projects such as the Bibliotheca Alexandrina in Egypt, and the New National Opera House in Oslo, Norway.”
